Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

On petition of the City Bar Association six attorneys have been debarred in Philadelphia. The reason: They had accepted retainer fees from a group of racketeering rascals as a kind of insurance for the rascals in event of arrest for criminal acts. This purging should have a salutary effect on "Philadelphia lawyers," whose reputation has become a legendary byword. If more purges of this kind were administered more frequently and universally to the erring in the legal profession business would be better for the 99 percent of them who are honest.

Il Duce is moving the cats of Rome to the marsh country he is reclaiming in the south of Italy. Rome is, perhaps, the quietest city in the world as regards urban noises. Only the male vocalists of the species have continued to make night unendurable, while other racuous noises have been stilled by Ducal edict. The exodus of cats to the new country probably means a reversion to the wild, since cats are much better able to take care of themselves, when abandoned, than dogs. In this country cats that shift for themselves are destroyers of all kinds of small game and song birds.

The warning of President Roosevelt Sunday night that there might be derelictions of duty in administering the various funds created out of the $4,800,000,000 for work relief, that in any great enterprise of this kind there will always be found a few will use it to advantage themselves, should be heeded by every citizen. The citizens themselves on learning of crookedness or negligence in the administration can put a stop to abuses by reporting at once to the authorities. This is what President Roosevelt invites them to do. San Francisco has developed a scandal of some reputed $100,000 proportions in the wood chopping project of the SERA in Sutro Forest. Vigilant and responsible citizens can call a halt on such rascality if they will.

This is worth thinking about. The Independent Woman reports that: Eighty-four cities, towns and villages in the United States are entirely free from local taxes as a result of owning and operating public utilities. Profits from utilities are paying municipal salaries, sending children to school, paving streets, operating parks, playgrounds and libraries—often with rates lower than elsewhere. Thanks largely to its municipally owned electric plant, the village of Skaneateles, N. Y., has had no municipal taxes since 1931, has $98,288 in cash on hand and owns $48,000 worth of its own bonds. The electric plant is debt-free."

Measles last week closed the schools for a few days. The reason an epidemic of any kind closes schools is because parents of children in schools neglect to conform to the simplest quarantine rules. The first case of measles or scarlet fever is a warning to all parents to be on the lookout. Children with a slight fever, or the symptoms of a bad cold should be kept home. It is unneighborly to permit children to expose their school mates to an illness that could easily be prevented. Measles, as any doctor will affirm, is a dangerous disease, especially when not properly cared for.

Pneumonia resulting from lungs congested with dust is now taking its toll among the afflicted inhabitants of Kansas, following the wind storms which wrested the surface earth from thousands of square miles. Depression, drought, flood and dust storms truly have tried the spirit of America. Curiously enough, however, we have not heard any prophecies of kingdom come immediately. In earlier and more primitive times wild-eyed fanatics were able under stressful conditions to hypnotize thousands into preparing ascension robes and to wait on a given date for the horn of Gabriel. Fanatic faith of that kind, perhaps, has vanished from the land, and no sane person will regret it.

TELEGRAPH MINE

The Telegraph mine, nine miles north of Downieville, California, has resumed operation under the management of Engineer John M. Sheedy. The program includes the development of a vein partially opened last fall before the mine was closed for machinery installations. Diesel power has been installed.—Mining Journal.

Bradley Reports Dam at Narrows Assured

Walter Bradley, State Mineralogist, who lately returned from Washington where he appeared before the United States Board of Army Engineers which heard the appeal from the California Debris Commission's adverse ruling on debris dams, has told a number of his friends that the dam at Narrows on the Yuba river is practically assured, but that it is doubtful whether dams on the Bear and American rivers will be approved.

Congressman Harry Englebright of this city and Bradley were responsible for mustering the strong protest made to the United States Army Engineering Board against the report of the State Debris Commission. Data regarding the yardage of pay gravel on the Yuba watersheds was presented which apparently convinced the board of the necessity and feasability of the Narrows dam.

CHILDREN WILL PLAY ENCHANTED GARDEN TODAY

BASEBALL GAMES ARE CANCELLED

Coach Barron has cancelled all games scheduled for the baseball team this season, because the combined effect of the measles epidemic and the continued rainy weather have rendered the Yellowjackets unable to compete on equal terms with other high schools, luckier in being able to practice daily.

Nevada City has played only two games, one with Grass Valley on April 24, and one with Auburn on April 26, losing the Grass Valley game 5-10, and the Auburn game 8-0.

MOTION FOR RETRIAL IN N. I. D. VS P. G. E. SUIT

A motion for a new trial and a cost bill signed by Thomas J. Straub, chief council for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., and W. R. Dunn who conducted the defendant's case was filed in the superior court Wednesday in the case of the N. I. D. vs. P. G. & E. in which a jury last Friday rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $199,-341.41 on a claim by the plaintiff for water delivered to the defendant at Lake Spaulding.

The notice of motion of intention to move for a new trial is based on the usual statutory grounds of insufficiency of evidence, that the verdict is against law, and on account of errors of law occuring at the trial end excepted to by the dedendant.

George Hallock superintendent of the 16-to-1 Extension mine at Alleghany was a recent Nevada City visitor.

NEW HIGHWAY BRANCH OFFICE WILL BE OPENED

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of an invitation from W. Boucher, manager of the Sacramento Valley District of the Sacramento Valley Council of the State Chamber of Commerce to attend a dinner meeting of the council in Marysville tomorrow, Saturday, evening.

The dinner will celebrate the opening of the new highway headquarters building of District 3 in Marysville. The building was constructed at a cost of approximately $50,000, and will be used for the purpose of giving adequate office facilities for the District Engineer, Charles Whitmore, and his staff.

Earl Lee Kelly, director of the Department of Public Works, members of the State Highway Commission and a great many other highway officials will be present.

The Sacramento Valley Council of the State Chamber of Commerce is co-operating with the Sutter Yuba Chamber of Commerce in making this dedication a success.

Secretary W. H. Griffith of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce announces that a number of local members plan to attend the dinner and those planning to attend the dinner, which will be held at Hotel Marysville at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, should notify him.

LUMBER LOST IN TAR POT BLAZE

Two men barely escaped with their lives Wednesday afternoon when a tar pot burst into flames at Big Tunnel eighteen miles east of Nevada City and destroyed about $200 worth of lumber and lagging that had been dipped in creosote and was being used for spring repairs in the mile-long tunnel of the Pacific Gas and Electric company.

This tunnel is one of the important links in the system of the power company, carrying water on its way from Lake Spaulding to Deer Creek and Deer Creek power house. A crew of thirty men have been employed on the spring repairs.

NO EXTRADITION FOR TRUCKEE BRAWLER

Earl Watson, alias Frank Jones, arrested for assault on A. D. Mason, irate husband, who filled his right hand with shot from 410 shotgun Wednesday last week, following a quarrel over Mason's wife, is not wanted in Oregon after all. The sheriff of Wheeler county, Oregon, yesterday wired Sheriff Carl Tobiassen that it would cost too much to extradite the man. Watson was wanted in Oregon for breaking jail. He had served a term, according to Oregon authorities for burglary. Mason is still in the county hospital recovering from the beating given him after he had shot Watson.

CHANGE IN STAGE SCHEDULE

Beginning May first a change was made in the Alleghany stage schedule, the stage leaving Alleghany daily except Sunday at 1:00 p. m. arriving in Nevada City at 10:30 a. m.

AMATEUR PULLS BIG ONE OUT BEAR RIVER

This is a May Day fish story and Earl Hiscox, game warden, vouches for it. He was in Bear Valley fulfilling his well known duties, when a tired fisherman, who had apparently fished Bear river from the valley to the Sierra summit, limped up and asked him if he knew any place where there were some fish. Hiscox motioned toward a pool a few yards upstream and said he might catch something there. The amateur fisherman cast in his hook and it had hardly hit the water before—zing!

The rod bent double and the line cut lightning zigzags through the water. Hiscox shouted at him to play the fish, but he was too excited to hear or heed. He streaked away from the pool and dragged the fish out behind him. Line, pole, or hook, fortunately, did not break. The fish was a four pound Loch Leven and measured twenty inches. The fisherman clapped the fish in his car and started for home, not waiting to get another one.

Hiscox reports that eleven fishermen got the limit in Bear river and tributaries Wednesday.

CHILD SPECIALIST TO SPEAK HERE

The High School Parent Teachers Association announces that Dr. Lucas Empey, child specialist, formerly of San Jose, now of Roseville, will talk Monday night at the high school under the auspices of the high school P. T. A. on children's infectious diseases. The P. T. A. in presenting Dr. Empey believes that it is offering a real service to the citizens of Nevada City. Due to the fact that the recent and not yet entirely abated measles epidemic in Nevada City, this talk by Dr. Empey is most opportune. Many citizens declare that the epidemic was much mode widespread than necessary if there had been proper control. The surest method of control is to have the understanding and cooperation of parents.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL P. T. A. WINS PRIZE

The May Day program presented by Mrs. Lyda Talbot, and her dancing class pupils, assisted by many grammar school children, at the Nevada Theatre Wednesday night was a delight to everyone. The stage background, banked with spring flowers, was a beautiful setting for the Maypole and other dances.

A large audience enjoyed the performance so well rendered by the little tots. Mrs. Talbot received compliments for presenting this fine program.

The costuming of the little folks was beautiful and elicited much applause. Mrs. Talbot was the recipient of beautiful baskets and bouquets of flowers.

A count of the votes this afternoon showed the Grammar School P. T. A. as the winner and it will be the recipient of half the receipts. The entire vote follows: Grammar School P. T. A. 128; N. D. G. W. 95; Firemen 11; Nevada City Benevolent Society 11; Boy Scouts of America 31. Quite a number of the tickets did not carry a vote.

SAN JUAN FOLKS WANT ELECTRICITY

Mr. Daly sent by the Railroad Commission of California was in San Juan Wednesday to make a survey of the country with a view of bringing electricity into the district. This is a long felt need of the community. The community tried a year ago to secure this service but were unsuccessful. L. W. Wood and co-workers have been persistent in their efforts and now it looks as though they will be successful. The line to the Boss mine in the past was not permanent, but it is so now. If it is decided to take the power into San Juan it will be taken from the Boss mine line.

Peaceful Settlement of Placer Mine Suit Now Seems Probable

The meeting called yesterday by Fred F. Cassidy, as president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, to ascertain if there might not be found a way to settle out of the court, the issues involved in the suit for an injunction brought by the Pacific Gas & Electric company against placer miners along the Bear river, resulted in a discussion of the subject out of which all parties to the litigation are hopeful of a satisfactory settlement without further resort to the courts.

Attending the meeting were Frank Scott representing the You Bet interests, Frank Crampton representing Remmington Hill, William Maguire, R. P. M. Davis and M. A. Griswold representing Liberty Hill. The P. G. & E. was represented by Vice President Paul Downing, Attorney Thos. J. Straub, Col. George Hunt, Herbert Cooper and Dan Stewart.

The two prime movers in obtaining the consent of the Chamber of Commerce to call the meeting were Frank Crampton and Judge George Jones. It was through their efforts that the chamber became interested and hopeful of good results that might flow from offering a basis for the litigants to discuss a peaceful settlement.

President Cassidy called the meeting to order and requested Judge Jones to outline his ideas on the subject.

Judge Jones said that issue involved in the suit brought by the Pacific Gas & Electric company against Bear river placer miners was greater than either the placer miners interests on Bear river of the Pacific Gas and Electric company. He stated that it involved the future of placer mining in California asked that thoughtful consideration given to any plan by which this matter might be amicably settled out of court. He stated that whether the Crampton plan were adopted or some other plan developed from it it was highly desirable that some settlement satisfactory to both parties be reached. Judge Jones suggested that Frank Crampton submit a plan which he had drafted, looking toward a peaceful settlement.

Mr. Crampton's plan was prefaced by the statement that although only three active hydraulic mining operations, were at present involved in the half million dollar law suit, namely, Liberty Hill, You Bet and Remington Hill, the matter went considerably further and jeepardized future operations of other gravel properties on the Bear river watershed.

While holding no brief for the P. G. & E., Mr. Crampton felt that the best interests of all concerned would be a friedly solution of the matter, which would settle the present difficulty, as well as, to prevent a repetition of such controversies in the future.

The plan outlined was to have the miners of importance on the Bear river water shed form a placer mining district under the Placer Mining District Act, which had been passed by the 1933 legislature. The details of the formation of such a district being so well known to those at the meeting that a discussion of it was not entered into, excepting to say that the law provided for the organization of placer mines into a district similar to those provided under the irrigation act, and the issuing of bonds for the financing of any project necessary within the district. The bonds are legal investments for savings banks.

Mr. Crampton's plan would embrace the construction of dams on Greenhorn and Steephollow creeks, just above their junctions with the Bear river and the construction of a possible third dam below the junction of these streams with the Bear. If necessary small settling basins could be constructed above these dams.

In order to deliver clear water to the valley municipalities water could be by-passed either through the Boardman or another ditch, which of necessity might have to be constructed for that purpose. This would assure valley communities of clear water for domestic purposes. The dams would provide basins for sufficient settlement of slickens so that water for irrigation would not be unduly contaminated.

In as much as the federal loans require a self liquidating feature this is assured by the payment of three cents a cubic yard for all the gravel hydrauliced, this sum being now paid to the Nevada Irrigation District for such storage. But if the dams were erected this three cents would be diverted to the liquidation of the bonds issued for the construction of the dams. It was estimated that it would take in the neighborhood of ten years at the present rate of money to liquidate the project.

Paul Downing, vice president of the Pacific Gas & Electric company, called upon by President Cassidy, in an informal statement of his company's attitude gave a brief resume of the complaint filed in the case and concluded by stating the P. G. & E. was willing to discuss the issue involved in a friendly spirit with the placer miners.

On motion of Mr. Downing a chairman of the meeting of litigants was chosen, Frank Crampton being nominated and elected. Shortly there after a committee of three consisting of Col. George Hunt, Frank Scott and M. A. Griswold was appointed to draft a plan, using the Crampton plan as a possible basis. The date for the next meeting of the litigants was set for May 15 in the Pacific Gas & Electric headquarters in Sacramento.

Aid to Suburban Owners

(Contributed)

The owners of small suburban properties which possess both home and agricultural qualifications but which have not been able to secure either a Land Bank or Home Loan from the Government may be given relief by an amendment to the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act, according to information received here by T. C. Tucker, Chairman of the California Farm Debt Adjustment Committee.

The amendment as reported out by the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency reads as follows:

"Section 29, Section 32 of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, as amended (U. S. C., title 12, sec. 1016), is further amended by inserting after the second sentence thereof the following new sentence: 'For the purposes of this section, farm property may be valued at an amount representing a prudent investment, consistent with community standards and rentals, if (1) the person occupying the property is not entirely dependent upon farm income for his livelihood but receives a part of his income from other dependable sources, and (2) the farm income from the property, together with earnings from other dependable sources ordinarily available in the community to a person operating such property, would be sufficient to support his family, to pay operating expenses and fixed charges, and to discharge the interest and amortization payments on the loan."

Several months ago, at the request of the Conciliation Commissioners' Association of Northern California, the California Farm Debt Adjustment Committee unanimously adopted resolutions requesting action by the Federal authorities in Washington leading to some form of joint loan whereby both the residential and agricultural values of these borderline cases might be appraised.

The result of these resolutions was the formation of a joint Farm Credit Administration and Home Owners' Loan Corporation Committee.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS DOGS, PARK, TRAFFIC

The City Council met last night.

Mr. O. Brown petitioned in behalf of the residents in upper west Broad street to do something about allaying the nuisance of hounds and hunting dogs kenneled in that district. The petition alleges the dogs are unsanitary and a nuisance. This petition was tabled for consideration.

A delegation of merchants protested the proposed enacting of an ordinance to license trucks which bring foodstuffs into Nevada City. A special meeting will be called to consider this.

Mrs. C. E. Parsons was present in behalf of the Women's Club to advocate that a member of the club be placed on the proposed planning board of the new city park, and offered the club's active cooperation. Dr. C. W. Chapman presented a plan to the board whereby the Native Sons would bring an old stage coach and pinoneer ox cart to the new park if the SERA would furnish the labor to build stalls for them. This was agreed.

A number of the owners of liquor establishments were present to ask that council allow them to stay open until 2 a. m. The council declared that they would not change the ordinance.

A motion was made and carried that the council instruct the city officers enforce the traffic and parking laws more stringently

BOWLING

Tonight the Richards team will meet the Clarke bowling team in a challenge game at the Elks' bowling hall. The Clarke team emerged victorious in the last tournament. The bowling committee requests that all bowlers be present together with those who wish to participate in the next tournament, as there will be a little surprise in store for all those who come up to see the game.

Buttons for Me

He thinks of the home his boyhood knew,
And viewed through mists of the past,
It glows like a gem of purest ray,
And he grieves that it could not last.

The house was sheltered by rustling trees,
There were flowers and a wimpling stream;
And now enshrined in his loyal heart,
Of course it's a beautiful dream.

But his clothes were washed in the little brook,
Or in water drawn from the well;
And he bathed in the kitchen each Saturday night—
Just how, he refuses to tell.

He read at night by a smelly lamp,
Or a candle's guttering flame;
He split the kindling and chopped the wood,
And his neighbors did the same.

He plowed the orchard and drove to town
Over roads that were mud or sand,
He sat on a stool in the cold gray dawn
And milked the bossy by hand.

So I smile discreetly whenever I hear
Him harp on the good old days,
When he curried horses and shovelled snow
And suffered in various ways.

As a memory, a dear old fashioned home
Is priceless I must confess;
But give me a home in the here and now
With electric buttons to press.

LEGISLATIVE LETTER
by Graham Berry

(By WNU Service)

Eight weeks of consultation and still the doctors at Sacramento are undecided as to the right prescription to put the state budget back on its feet for another two years. Everything from sulphur and molasses to pink pills has been suggested, but the physicians have been unable to arrive at a harmonious diagnosis and cure.

Instead of tackling the state's financial problems the first thing last March, the budget has been allowed to go begging, while legislative attention has been concentrated on smaller and more localized matters. Perhaps the reason for this is that politicians wanted to be sure that bills affecting only their particular localities were given attention before the Legislature became tangled with state problems. Perhaps pressure from lobbyists and from home have cramped legislative freedom to deliberate and act. Then again maybe the fact that party lines have been washed away and politicians cannot grab onto the old party life-lines has made the the gentleman a little more conservative when it comes to doing something.

Anyhow, it was not until last week that the Senate began reviewing Merriam's tax program. The Assembly has the jump on the upper house by having passed three of the governor's tax proposals, practically without alteration. These are the income tax, the increase in corporation franchise tax from 2 to 4 per cent and the raise in the banking tax from 6 to 9 per cent.

To grease the wheels of the squeaky tax-raising machinery, a joint legislative committee, made up of seven members of each house, has been formed. Senator Walter Duval, the committee chairman, has painted the first bright colors on the gloomy taxation picture.

He has found that improved business conditions promise a greater return to the state than was anticipated three months ago. This fact, plus a franchise tax on public utility corporations—made possible with the return of their property to county tax rolls—will shave $9,000,000 from new tax needs of the state. The Legislature will only have to scare up $87,000,000 instead of $96,000,000.

At its first meeting, the new committee indicated it will snub the so-called nuisance taxes recommended by Merriam. At least two committee members, including the chairman, have expressed disfavor of the proposed theater ticket tax.

The joint committee was responsible for the first setback the governor's tax program has received in the Assembly. Administration forces attempted to push the 1 per cent tax on the transfer of all real estate equities to join the other Merriam measures passed by the Assembly for consideration in the Senate.

After a wrangle, it was decided to delay action on the bill pending the report of the joint committee. During the debate, amendments were added which cut returns from the levy in two.

Getting Somewhere

The first major suggestion coming out of the newly-formed joint tax committee was a "minimum method" of financing the state's 1935-37 budget. The new program, which many observers feel is more logical than the governor's and which would not be overburdensome to taxpayers, would raise $97,000,000—or $57,200,000 less than Merriam's suggestions.

Senator Duval, who presented the plan, said that Merriam had underestimated existing sources of revenue by $13,500,000. He added that the plan does away with the necessity of a special election over the utility transfer problem. A gross transactions tax would also be avoided, one of the big budget balancing proposals. Further reduction of the general fund deficiency was suggested through bond financing of $4,000,000 budgeted for institutional construction.

The minimum method provides for $69,500,000 in new revenue for the state general fund and $28,250,000 in two-year emergency taxes for unemployment relief.

State Controller Ray L. Riley has submitted a plan of his own, one differing in several respects from the joint committee idea, but having, like the plan of the committee, an ad valorem levy of $30,000,000 a biennium. Both include the sales tax at 3 per cent and with essential foods exempted. Both advocate increases in the inheritance tax, hard liquor tax and an income tax.

Riley would add only two new taxes to the existing list, a severance and an income levy.

Two years ago Riley was an advocate for the gross transactions tax, but he made no mention of it in his new plan. This was taken to mean that he now favors a sound budget-balancing program, with drastic consumers' taxes eliminated.

Governor Merriam, in one of his daily press conferences recently, said the following:

"Without abandoning my own program, I will say that any reasonable tax plan submitted by the Legislature will be acceptable to me.

"As for the gross receipts tax, you will remember that two years ago, when I was in the Senate, I suggested such a plan before the sales tax was adopted. At any rate, I shall co-operate with the joint Senate-Assembly tax committee and support any reasonable program they decide on."

When asked if he thought if the gross receipts levy was a reasonable tax, he said he believed so. This was taken to indicate that if a budget program cannot be worked out, he will back Assemblyman Latham's gross receipts bill, which would raise $200,000,000 during the next biennium by placing a 1 per cent levy on all gross receipts. This measure is ready for immediate action.

Of course nothing definite can be said yet, but it is pretty generally conceded—at least by the observing spectators—that Merriam's budget program can't possibly go through, as is. It is believed that he has placed his figures too high on practically all his items. Hence the other programs that are now cropping up during the closing weeks of the session.

Perhaps because he sees this handwriting on the wall, the governor is planning cuts in salaries and other economies in the various state departments. He is introducing legislation which will give the state personnel board power to reduce salaries in the Califorina civil service. Reduction of excessive salaries is expected to reduce the budget needs $200,000 biennially. Incidentally, after the Senate's refusing to confirm Merriam's appointment of John C. Porter to the last vacancy in the personnel board, the upper house gave its nod to Arthur J. Brown to the post.

Also, Merriam has ordered a "reorganization" of the employes of the state-owned San Francisco harbor to cut costs $500,000 during the next two years.

Labor Legislation

Labor took one on the chin at Sacramento recently with defeat of the 30-hour week bill in the Assembly. The same measure was tabled in the Senate labor and capital committee. The blow was not aimed at labor, however, but at the danger to California industry that such a state law would create. The Assembly favors the idea and has passed a resolution to memorialize Congress to establish a nationwide 30-hour week.

Two other bills favoring labor have been passed recently, both in the lower house. One measure would extend the prevailing wage law to goods fabricated for public works projects. The other would prohibit the state free employment agency from furnishing strike breakers.

The Assembly, which is active when it comes to considering labor questions, is expected to battle over the so-called NRA Code Bill for states. Many observers, including several legislators, feel that this measure should rest in committee, pending action on the national NRA.

Assemblyman Hornblower, however, believes otherwise; he was instrumental in having the bill voted out of committee last week and brought to the Assembly floor for consideration. Loud were the cries of business men, who would wait for Federal action before anything is done at Sacramento.

On the other hand, it is pointed out that a number of Federal men are at the State Capitol, lobbying to have the measure rushed through, while on the other, Assemblyman Lyon, lower house judiciary committee chairman, said that it would be worse than bad business to enact a state code without consideration of what Congress may do.

Another work bill, one which would limit working hours of domestic servants and which had been approved by the Assembly and by the senate labor and capital committee, met an unexpected 25 to 7 defeat in the Senate. The measure provided that servants living on premises where they worked should not have to work over 60 hours a week and that those living off the premises should be limited to a 48-hour week.

The lower house has unanimously approved a bill calling for state aid of self-help co-operatives to the extent of $10,000,000. The measure would make those now being cared for by public and private relief rolls self-supporting. The Senate will consider the measure this week.

Said Assemblyman J. J. Boyle, bill sponsor, "The state could take care of the unemployed at one-fifth of the present cost. It is the only practical way of solving the relief problem."

Road Bill Up Again

The vortex of one of the worst political storms at Sacramento has been the administration road bill, wherein it is proposed to consolidate all county roads into the state highway system. The measure, which has been held prisoner in the senate roads and highways committee chiefly by the county boards of supervisors, may be maneuvered onto the Senate floor.

Its sponsors are still determined to put up a strong fight for the bill. An important development in the last few days is the fight the cities are making to obtain an extra quarter cent of the gasoline tax funds. Their failure to win the committee's approval of this, as a result of opposition by senators from rural counties, has tended to place them in line against the counties. The road bill provides that they receive this extra quarter cent.

Another development is the consideration of an amendment by the bill sponsors which would permit counties to transfer their roads to the state system if they wanted to.

Final signature of the striped bass bill by the governor marks the victory of a ten-year fight by sportsmen. It made netting and selling the fish unlawful.

The Cronin bill to restrict advertising by dentists has passed both houses. This is another bill that has appeared before at Sacramento. The measure prohibits dentists from advertising superior service, fixed prices, free or guaranteed work or that treatsments are given painlessly.

DANCERS WILL HEAR SENSATIONAL ORCHESTRA

Long known as the "band which played twice around the world," Tom Coakley and his orchestra will make a tour of the United States under the management of the Music Corporation of America, it was announced today.

At the conclusion of the second voyage they went to the Ahwahnee Hotel in the Yosemite valley for the summer, then to the Athens Club at Oakland, California.

It was while at the Oakland Club that the Coakley band hopped on Walter Winchell's magic carpet via fifty-two radio transmitters and started the rise to nation-wide recognition as one of the country's leading dance orchestras.

The present Coakley orchestra includes a complete rhumba unit, which features Glenn Hurlburt, the blind accordionist and arranger. The band also parades five singers and a male trio. They play at Rainbow Gardens on May 7.

Russell Farley, board of equalization official of this district and wife were Sacramento visitors last Sunday.

A Glimpse of Building Activity

VOLUME 1. MAY 3, 1935. No. 4.

Of course we want to sell lumber as that is our long suit, but we take a lot of interest in studying and explaining to our customers new specialties in the building line — as these specialties are developed.

A good case in point is the new tile just installed in Bowman's Barber Shop by Lawrence J. Smith. This is a highly finished hard wearing, good-looking product and the price is very reasonable.

The product is "Bestile."

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

The writer is a new comer in the community, been here less than a month — but that does not mean that he is a stranger.

Have never seen a community in which the new arrival is made to feel so much at home.

Notice that a lot of your fine old pine rustic homes need a coat of paint, for the preservation of your investment as well as for the appearance of the home.

When you repaint have your painter use "Dutch Boy Products" — White Lead, LTZ Paste, Mixing Oil, etc. We have the Dutch Boy line in stock and your painter will be happy to use them, as he knows that the job will be a credit to him and a pleasure to you.

LET'S LAUGH

A school inspector visited a classroom and wrote on the board the following:

"L X X X". He then peered over his spectacles at a very pretty girl in the front row.

"Young lady, try to give me an idea what THAT means," he directed.

"Love and kisses," she replied.

Ask us about "Palco Bark" if you have a problem of either cold storage or house INSULATION.
